Giving Circle

Empowering Future Leaders Through Education

Bring together your friends to create a lasting impact on Australia's brightest young women from disadvantaged backgrounds. By forming a Giving Circle, you can collectively support the Harding Miller Education Foundation, providing scholarships that empower future leaders with the tools and resources they need to excel.

Why Start a Giving Circle?

Collective Impact: Pooling resources with friends amplifies the power of your contribution, enabling you to support more scholars or provide additional enrichment opportunities.

Shared Purpose: Strengthen friendships through a shared commitment to education and gender equity, fostering a sense of community and collective achievement.

Transparent Outcomes: Every dollar raised by your Giving Circle directly funds scholarships, as administrative costs are fully covered by our endowment.

How a Giving Circle Can Make a Difference

Sponsor a Scholarship: Your Giving Circle can fund full scholarships that provide essential tools such as laptops, internet access, tutoring, and personal coaching.

Support Enrichment Programs: Enable scholars to participate in leadership camps, mentorships, and other skill-building activities.

Expand Opportunities: Help us reach more high-potential students from remote and underserved areas across Australia.

How to Get Started

Form Your Circle: Invite friends, family, or colleagues who share your passion for education and social equity.

Set a Goal: Determine how much you want to raise together and what specific support you'd like to provide.

Decide Donation Frequency: Your Giving Circle can choose a donation schedule that suits everyone—whether it's weekly, monthly, quarterly, or annually.

Make It Fun: Organise events, campaigns, or challenges to engage your circle and spread awareness about your cause.

Track Your Impact: Receive detailed reports from Harding Miller Education Foundation showing how your collective efforts have transformed lives.

Benefits of a Giving Circle

Meaningful Connections: Strengthen bonds with friends while making a tangible difference in the lives of young women.

Recognition: With your permission, we will celebrate your Giving Circle's generosity and achievements within our community.

Flexible Contributions: Each member can contribute at a level that suits them, making it easy and inclusive.

Together, We Can Build a Brighter Future

By forming a Giving Circle, you and your friends are not just donating—you are investing in the next generation of female leaders and creating a ripple effect of positive change.
